International Law, Conflict
Prevention and the Media

This is the second volume of a series on Conflict and the Media based on the debates that took place in the framework of international seminars held in several European cities.

Conflict prevention is a challenging concept for the media because journalists work mostly on current affairs and breaking news. Yet, they can play a role in conflict prevention by providing swift and reliable information about emerging or potential conflicts.

Thus, Before Emergency: Conflict Prevention and the Media gathers the communications presented by academics, NGO representatives and journalists from different countries
